Welcome Back!

For the SPRING 2004 semester and Happy New Year to All!

PLEASE NOTE: Applications for course releases for fall & spring 2004-2005 were recently distributed via e-mail to all A&S full-time faculty. The course releases are made possible through the A&S Research/Creativity, Award program. Dean Paolini urges eligible faculty to apply.

COLLEGE ACTIVITIES

THE IDEAL COMMITTEE

was formed in the College of Arts & Sciences in the Fall semester. An acronym for Involvement of Departments Engaged and Active Learning, the IDEAL committee is charged with the task of introducing and reinforcing engaged learning methods on campus. As part of this mission, the committee will be holding several workshops throughout the Spring semester.

The first of these, “Introducing Project-Based Learning Into Your Classroom,” will be presented by Dr. Pilar Munday, Assistant Professor of Modern Foreign Languages on Wednesday, January 28 from 12:30 to 1:45 p.m. in Room A. Designed to make you aware of both the instructional and evaluation methods in project-based learning assignments, this workshop will provide valuable hands-on activities that can be utilized in all disciplines. Please be sure to RSVP to Dean Paolini’s office by January 26 and bring your laptop!

Mark Your Calendars!

Following this workshop, two others will be presented. The schedule is as follows:

“Technology as a Means of Engaging Students” will take place on Monday, February 23 from 3:30 to 4:45 in the Faculty Lounge and “Using Academic Research and Internships to Involve Students” will be presented on Thursday, March 18 from 2:00 to 3:15 p.m. in the Faculty Lounge. Once again, mark your calendars as all of the workshops promise to be “active and engaged” for faculty members.

The IDEAL Committee is comprised of the following faculty: Drs. Annette Bailey, Debbie Danowski, June-Ann Greeley, Mark Jareb, Andrew Miller, Claire Paolini, Patricia Smith and Sandra Young.

COMMUNICATIONS ACROSS THE CURRICULUM (CXC)

The program has sponsored a series of workshops for faculty members during the fall semester including a “Turnitin.com” workshop on plagiarism. CXC will again sponsor a writing contest. Prizes will be given at the A&S Poster Session. Contact Dr. Jeff Cain for more information.

UNDERGRADUATE RESEARCH/INTERNSHIPS COMMITTEE (URI)

The URI Committee has awarded 9 students research grants to cover costs of materials for research projects to be carried out under the supervision of a faculty mentor. Students receiving funding will present their research results at the annual A&S POSTER SESSION to be held on APRIL 30, 2004. Additional awards will be granted to students for spring research activities as well as travel to conferences to present research results. Several summer grants are also anticipated to be awarded. The URI committee urges faculty to bring this opportunity to the attention of appropriate students.

AWARD GRANTED

Dr. Brian Stiltner, Assistant Professor of Religious Studies, was nominated by the University and accepted as a Danforth Associate. As a member of Danforth Associates of New England (DANE), Dr. Stiltner attended a recent conference of the Associates organized to reflect upon issues of common concern to post-secondary teachers. Dr. Stiltner along with the other Danforth Associate nominees discussed DANE, its purpose, and potential further University memberships with the University community on November 18 to all who were interested.

THE AMERICAN CHEMICAL SOCIETY Student Affiliates chapter at Sacred Heart University has been selected to receive a Commendable award for its chapter activities conducted during the 2002-2003 academic year.

ART & DESIGN STUDENTS NATIONALLY RECOGNIZED

The artwork of five SHU Art & Design students won national recognition from The Society of Illustrators of Los Angeles. Selected from nearly 800 entries, the artwork will be displayed on SILA's website early 2004. The five students whose illustrations are also scheduled to be on display in a Burbank, California exhibition in January at the Creative Arts Gallery, are: Jason Marcoux, who had two illustrations accepted, Jim Davis, Jared Montano, Ralph Ruta, and Paul Wronski.

Also, Congratulations to the Art & Design Department for a job well done on short notice in assisting the First Presbyterian Church of Fairfield in preparing their 150th Anniversary brochure!
