Recessional
Although he is one of the nation's most successful and respected bankers, Dennis Weatherstone remains as humble as the day he began his career as a 15-year-old clerk in a London bank. His has been a career of achievement through a combination of extraordinary talent and consistent perseverance.

As he rose through the ranks to become chief executive officer and chairman of J.P. Morgan, he never lost sight of what is most important in life — family, friends and community. Mr. Weatherstone has successfully balanced business leadership with family life, a balance he especially values because of his own experience of separation from loved ones during World War II.

As a young man he served two years in the Royal Air Force and then resumed his banking career, joining the foreign exchange department of Guaranty Trust, where he had first worked as a clerk. When the bank merged with J.P. Morgan in 1959, he received the first of many promotions. Eventually, he moved his family to New York, where he became successively J.P. Morgan's Treasurer, then Vice-Chairman, CEO, President and, in 1990, Chairman of what was then nation's fifth largest banking company.

During his tenure as Chairman, Weatherstone led J.P. Morgan in bold new directions, honing the institution's traditional focus on corporate and merchant banking, while engaging in aggressive trading in Latin American bonds. Today, Mr. Weatherstone remains a Director at Morgan, as well as at General Motors, Merck & Co., the Sloan Foundation, The Royal College of Surgeons and the Bank of England. The Institute for International Economics has honored him by establishing the Dennis Weatherstone Chair in International Capital Markets. His outstanding attributes as a leader and human being led Queen Elizabeth to dub him a Knight Commander of the British Empire.

He commands admiration and respect from all for his calm yet decisive manner. He is an individual to whom others turn for guidance.

In recognition of an extraordinary individual, Sacred Heart University brings honor to itself on this 17th day of May 1998, as it confers the degree, Doctor of Laws, honoris causa, upon

Dennis Weatherstone
Henry J. Leir is a man whose career in gemstones and minerals spans several decades in three countries, and whose humanitarianism knows no boundaries.

As a young man, Mr. Leir fled his native Germany in 1933 when the Nazis came to power, and he found a haven in neighboring Luxembourg. In 1939, when World War II erupted, he and his wife, Erna, immigrated to America.

Business successes in New York, as the founder of a company importing gemstones, did not deter Mr. Leir from remembering the many kindnesses of the Luxembourgers. After the war, he was instrumental in creating housing for orphans, called Children's Villages, and donated to several charities in this small nation in the center of Europe.

Through the years, Mr. Leir's generosity has embraced a multitude of charities here and abroad: The Ridgefield Foundation in New York City, whose interests include education and Jewish organizations; the Israel Philharmonic Orchestra Foundation, and the American Friends of the Israel Philharmonic Orchestra.

Mr. Leir continues to spend three days a week in his New York office and to reach out to Luxembourg. Through a recent initiative, a home he built on his property in Ridgefield will provide a summer respite for Luxembourg children of limited means.

Jacques Lennon, a friend and associate for 60 years, describes Mr. Leir as "a diverse human being ... strict, a taskmaster, but very, very nice. ... He's truly unforgettable."

In tribute to a special human being, Sacred Heart University brings honor to itself on this 17th day of May 1998, as it confers the degree, Doctor of Laws, honoris causa, upon

Henry J. Leir
As co-director of the Mercy Learning Center in Bridgeport that she helped establish in 1987, Cheryl Driscoll, RSM, has worked tirelessly to ensure that this important community organization continues to grow and succeed. Her energy and her devotion to serving others are her trademarks.

As a teacher, she worked in inner-city schools in the state's three largest cities — Bridgeport, Hartford and New Haven — for nearly 20 years. Her assignments included serving as Director of Religious Education at St. George Parish and as a teacher at Sacred Heart/St. Anthony School, both in Bridgeport. It was during her years as a school teacher that she realized the secret plight shared by so many of her students' mothers — that their minimal education prevented them from being involved in their children's education.

That was unacceptable to a woman who, as a member of the Community of The Sisters of Mercy, has faithfully committed to her students and their education. Her life with these students and their families has given her a deep and abiding understanding of the poor.

Having graduated from Diocesan Teachers' College in Madison with a degree in Elementary Education and having earned a Master's Degree in Special Education from St. Joseph's College in West Hartford, Sister Cheryl understood only too well the importance of a good education. She set out with a fellow sister, Eileen Boffa, RSM, to make education available to inner-city women through the Mercy Learning Center.

Beginning with an initial group of three women tutored in a single classroom in 1987, the Mercy Center has evolved into a vital educational resource for the women of Bridgeport.

Those who know her well say nothing has given more meaning to her life than seeing the remarkable progress of the hundreds of women and families who have been, and continue to be, helped by the Mercy Learning Center.

In recognition of her extraordinary vision and remarkable achievements, Sacred Heart University brings honor to itself on this 17th day of May 1998, as it confers the degree, Doctor of Humane Letters, honoris causa, upon Cheryl Driscoll, RSM
During more than two decades as a teacher and principal in the inner cities of Hartford and Bridgeport, Eileen Boffa, RSM, became aware that many of her students’ mothers were illiterate. She was disturbed by this and knew that something had to be done.

So in 1987, Sister Eileen and another member of the Community of the Sisters of Mercy, Cheryl Driscoll, RSM, visited soup kitchens, housing projects and other similar venues in Bridgeport to invite low-income, adult women to join their new literacy-tutoring program. Three women accepted and that was the beginning of the now-thriving Mercy Learning Center.

With more than 150 volunteers and a staff of eight serving hundreds of low-income, illiterate women, the Center last year moved from its original quarters to an unoccupied elementary school building on Park Avenue in Bridgeport. Now, it is able to serve more women and provide expanded services, such as classes in the arts and humanities, life management skills workshops, cultural events and field trips.

But nothing is more important to Sister Eileen than helping women learn to read and write. Education has been the cornerstone of her life. A former teacher and principal at Sacred Heart/St. Anthony School in Bridgeport, she holds a Bachelor’s Degree in Elementary Education from the Diocesan Teachers’ College in Madison and a Master’s Degree in Urban Education from the University of Hartford.

As co-director, Sister Eileen’s management and “people” skills have been critical to the Mercy Learning Center’s success. Admirers describe her as fiercely determined and dedicated to the more than 500 women the center has taught to read and write, and to the more than 600 children who have been positively influenced by the program.

In admiration for an extraordinary woman, Sacred Heart University brings honor on itself on this 17th day of May 1998, as it confers the degree, Doctor of Humane Letters, honoris causa, upon Eileen Boffa, RSM.
Academic Dress

Tradition holds that the cap and gown were first used in ancient Greece when only youths of wealthy parents or those with patrons attended school. The wise teachers of the time believed that fine clothing and jewels should not be worn by the scholar but rather, that he should wear the garments of the workman.

In the United States, the gown commonly worn for both the associate and bachelor's degrees has pointed sleeves (with a slit for the arm). It is designed to be worn closed. The gown for the master's degree has an oblong sleeve, open at the wrist. The gown for the doctor's degree has bell-shaped open sleeves. All gowns are black and without trimming with the exception of the doctor's, which normally is trimmed with velvet, has three bars or chevrons on the sleeves and may be in distinctive color(s) governed by the school granting that degree. Master's and doctor's gowns may be worn open.

Upon graduation, students of old carried a mortarboard showing them to be masons of the future destined to build empires or cities or fountains of wisdom on the firm foundation of knowledge. To this day, graduates wear mortarboard caps and gowns, symbolizing that they are builders of the future.

The history of the hood, with which degree recipients are invested, dates back to 13th century England. Whether its origin is ecclesiastical or secular has never been settled. Hoods are two and one-half feet long for the associate, three feet for the bachelor's, three and one-half for the master's and four feet for the doctor's degree. The hood is lined with the colors of the institution — red and white, in the case of Sacred Heart University. The color of the trim indicates the academic degree — white for arts, letters and humanities (B.A.), golden yellow for science (B.S.).

The hoods of those with graduate degrees, as well as the tassels on the mortarboards of the undergraduates, are often in the color associated with the academic field of specialization, as follows:

The official seal of Sacred Heart University was introduced on July 22, 1963. It was designed by Frank Sullivan, an art teacher in New Jersey. Sullivan had been commissioned to design the seal by his friend, Dr. Maurice J. O'Sullivan, Sacred Heart University's first academic dean. The original pen and ink hangs in the diocesan museum at The Catholic Center in Bridgeport.

The original seal consists of a shield, a surrounding wreath of hearts and flowers, the symbol of the Sacred Heart, and the inscription "Universitas Sacri Cordis" in large letters on the outside of the seal and "Dioecesis Bridgeportensis, 1963" on the inner circle.

The shield consists of a dexter — the right hand side of a shield (the left as seen by the viewer) — and a sinister — the left hand side of a shield (the right as seen by the viewer). The dexter impalement bears, according to custom in ecclesiastical heraldry, the jurisdictional arms of the Diocese of Bridgeport. The sinister impalement displays the personal coat of arms of The Most Rev. Walter W. Curtis, S.T.D., the founder of Sacred Heart University and the second bishop of the Diocese of Bridgeport. By joining these arms to the Diocesan impalement on the same shield, the spiritual union of a bishop with his see is heralded.

The dexter consists of a bridge above wavy bars, which forms a worthy specimen of canting arms or "armes parlantes" of which the medieval heralds were so fond. Canting arms sing out and proclaim the name or office of the bearer. The bridge is an appropriate symbol for the Diocese of Bridgeport. The wavy lines beneath the bridge represent water in heraldry and afford an adequate expression of "port" in the name of the city. The Cross of Our Faith above the bridge dignifies the other symbols and identifies the coat as that of a jurisdiction of the Roman Catholic Church.

The sinister impalement is based on that of the Irish Curtis family, which consists of horizontal bars, surmounted with a central bar of checks. To differentiate these family arms and make them unique to Bishop Curtis, two lozenges (diamond-shaped objects) have been taken from the coat of the Costello family to honor the bishop's mother. The crescent, the symbol of Our Lady under the title of the Immaculate Conception, is substituted to signify the years that Bishop Curtis spent as a professor of moral theology at Immaculate Conception Seminary. The shield on the Sacred Heart University seal bears most of the impalements of Bishop Curtis' coat of arms, minus the colors and a few symbols.

Sometime in the early 1980s, the wreath of hearts and flowers was changed to a simple wreath of laurels, probably the result of a liberal designer's handiwork to make the seal more readable in a reduced size.
University History

The Name

Sacred Heart University was founded in 1963 by the Most Rev. Walter W. Curtis, S.T.D., the second bishop of the Diocese of Bridgeport, to provide an institution of higher education that would serve the needs of the people of the diocese and region, regardless of their sex, race, creed or religion.

In October 1962, Bishop Curtis announced both the plan to open a college the following September, and its name, “Sacred Heart.” The choice of name had a dual origin: it was the name of the Bishop’s first pastorate in Bloomfield, N.J., and was a pledge from the Bishop attesting to the value of such an institution.

The Mission

Sacred Heart University is a co-educational, independent, comprehensive institution of higher learning in the Catholic intellectual tradition whose primary objective is to prepare men and women to live in and make their contributions to the human community.

The University aims to assist in the development of people who are knowledgeable of self, rooted in faith, education in mind, compassionate in heart, responsive to social and civic obligations, and able to respond to an ever-changing world. It does this by calling forth the intellectual potential of its students, nurturing each one’s spiritual and moral growth, and deepening in them a sense of social responsibility. The University is committed to combining education for life with preparation for professional excellence.

Sacred Heart University is Catholic in tradition and spirit. As a Catholic university, it seeks to play its appropriate role in the modern world. It exemplifies in its life the Judeo-Christian values of the God-given freedom and dignity of every human person. Inspired by the ecumenical spirit of the Second Vatican Council, Sacred Heart University welcomes men and women of all religious traditions and beliefs who share its concerns for truth, scholarship, the dignity of the human person, freedom, and the betterment of human society. It values religious diversity as enhancing the University community and creating opportunities for dialogue in the common search for truth. Through its curricular and co-curricular activities and campus ministry programs, the University provides the context in which students have the opportunity to appropriate in a critical fashion their own religious traditions.

Sacred Heart University challenges its students to think critically, analyze carefully, evaluate with a sense of justice and proportion, and convey conclusions in an intelligible and articulate fashion. The University provides the environment in which its students can develop the aesthetic dimension of life by nurturing their abilities to imagine, create and appreciate. It assists students to acquire their responsibilities as conveyors and creators of culture and family.
As a community of teachers and scholars, Sacred Heart University exists for the pursuit of truth. It joins with other colleges and universities in the task of expanding human knowledge and deepening human understanding. It encourages and supports the scholarly and artistic work of its faculty and students. Further, it has a responsibility to share its resources and its special gifts and talents for the betterment of the human community. All members of the University community are strongly encouraged to participate in the wider community through service to others, especially the poor.

From its founding, the University has been recognized for its caring approach to students. This approach expresses the University’s belief that each student is born with a unique set of qualities and skills. It respects the personal and academic freedom of each of its members while at the same time fostering a genuine experience of community. By so doing, it creates the environment in which each person in the University shares in common goals and a common commitment to truth, justice and concern for others.

The Mace

During the Middle Ages, the wood mace clad in metal was an effective weapon in battle, but as newer and more powerful military arms developed, it was transformed into a symbol of dignity and authority.

The earliest ceremonial maces were borne by bodyguards of 12th century English and French kings; by the end of the 16th century, they were used widely by officials of English cities and towns. Today, the use of the ceremonial mace is found in the British House of Parliament, carried before ecclesiastical dignitaries and in university and college commencements and convocations.

The Sacred Heart University Mace traditionally is carried by the senior tenured faculty member and represents the President’s responsibility as the chief academic and administrative officer of the University. Commissioned by President Anthony J. Cernera, Ph.D., to mark the University’s 25th commencement, the mace is made of rosewood, mahogany, walnut and bronze.
