Hello SHU Alumni and Friends:

As we progress through our 15th anniversary year of the physical therapy program at SHU, I am continually reminded of the many accomplishments of our alumni. Again in this issue of the newsletter we have featured just a few of these, as well as faculty news and anniversary year events.

May I draw your particular attention to the DPT Student Emergency Fund and the associated Alumni Challenge underway this year?

As you may know, the DPT Student Emergency Fund was established through the extraordinary generosity of Dr. Michelle Lusardi, professor emerita of physical therapy, and her husband Larry. This Fund will provide financial assistance to students to enable them to remain in school during times of personal hardship and family emergencies. I am sure you can recall a classmate or two who had some very difficult personal or family challenges during PT school that divided their attention and detracted from their taking full advantage of the opportunities their SHU DPT education affords. The Lusardi’ gift fulfills Michelle’s desire to pay it forward, by enabling current and future students to participate fully in all the benefits of an SHU education.

This anniversary year marks a galvanizing point for the Emergency Fund: the PT faculty practice committee (Gary Austin, David Cameron, Donna Bowers, Jay Grimes, and myself) have committed the SHU PT faculty practice to a dollar-for-dollar match of all funds raised during this anniversary year! The fund began with a $10,000 gift, and fund-raising so far has raised an additional $1,200. With the faculty practice match, we need to raise an additional $6,300 during the current academic year to achieve our DPT Emergency Fund goal of $25,000 by the end of the year!

● If you recall a classmate – or yourself in a tough situation – who could have used some financial support during difficult times as a PT student …

● If you appreciate the numerous demands on PT students during their education …

● If you would be willing to support a very worthy and close to home fundraising initiative that will exclusively benefit our DPT students at SHU …

Then, I ask you to please help us with this fund-raising effort. If every one of our 430 PT alumni could make a contribution, we could easily raise the $6,300 needed to meet our $25,000 goal. Read more about the DPT Emergency Fund, the Alumni Challenge and the easy, on-line procedure for this tax-deductible donation on page 8 of this edition.

With my thanks for your consideration and generosity on behalf of our current and future PT students at SHU!

Sincerely,

Michael J. Emery PT, EdD, FAPTA

ALUMNI SPOTLIGHT
Michael Moschella DPT, ATC
Class of 2009

Michael Moschella, DPT recently joined the Naval Branch Health Clinic (NBHC) Groton Physical Therapy Department at the Naval Submarine Base in Groton Connecticut. Mike is a two-time alumnus of Sacred Heart, earning a Doctorate in Physical Therapy in 2009 and a Bachelor of Science in Athletic Training in 2006.

Prior to moving to the sub-base, Mike practiced at the Tolland, Connecticut office of Integrated Rehabilitation Services. Mike’s clinical interests include manual therapy, spine rehabilitation and sport medicine. His interests outside of the clinic include basketball, football, boating and fishing.

ALUMNI SPOTLIGHT
Ruth Crossley DPT
Class of 2009

Commissioned Corps of the
United States Public Health Service
Officer Basic Training Course Graduation
December 16, 2011

Newly-commissioned USPHS officer Lieutenant Ruth Crossley serves in the Indian Health Service at Chinle Comprehensive Health Care Facility in Chinle, Arizona. Ruth graduated from Albertus Magnus College in New Haven, CT, and received her DPT degree at SHU in 2009. Along with Mike Moschella, Ruth enjoyed first-hand exposure to military/public service during their “Swab Summer” clinical affiliations at the U.S. Coast Guard Academy Hospital in New London, CT.

The Officer Basic Course (OBC) establishes a standardized, highly reliable core of basic information, to inspire Corps officers and to establish an emotional bond to the U.S. Public Health Service. It supports acquisition of competencies that officers need to begin their careers, with emphasis on officerliness and readiness. When officers complete the OBC, they have the foundation upon which to develop a career in the Public Health Service and meet the basic readiness requirements for deployment.

MICHAEL J. EMERY
ALUMNI RECOGNITION AWARD
Janet Mowka Jobst MSPT
Class of 2006

As the first resident to graduate from the Jewish Home for the Elderly’s Clinical Geriatric Residency, Janet Mowka Jobst (MSPT 2006) demonstrated exceptional flexibility and leadership during the inaugural year of that program. Her subsequent professional and humanitarian contributions earned her the Michael J. Emery Alumni Recognition Award in 2011.

In recommending Janet for the prestigious alumni award, clinical assistant professor Dr. Sheila Watts commented, “I am so proud of Janet. I have watched her grow as an intelligent new graduate with innovative ideas to becoming a recognized leader within the rehabilitation department and the Jewish Home, to a wife and mother. She effectively balances her professional and personal life, and does so with a strong foundation based upon her faith.”

As a resident, Janet provided in-services to the department that changed practice by leading to the regular use of outcome measures. She also designed the physical environment and rehabilitation needs for Grasmere, a new adult day care center that served the residents of the greater Fairfield/Bridgeport area.

As a staff PT at the Jewish Home for the Elderly, Janet exhibits outstanding clinical and personal skills with all her patients. In fact, she has a reputation for not giving older adults a break because of their age. Sheila comments, “Heaven help those who are younger than 70 years of age!”

Janet designed and implemented an ambulation program for long-term residents that includes screening all ambulatory residents on the long-term floors for distance, device, and amount of assistance needed. She communicated this information to the nursing staff so that they could walk with residents of the unit. Small awards were given to the units that acquired the greatest mileage. She also assumed the role of primary therapist and assisted in the organization of a newly acquired rehabilitation department at the Watermark facility, which includes a 22-bed short term rehabilitation unit.

Since completing the residency, Janet has also served our department as a resource for the SHU geriatric residents that followed: Drs. Lisa Harvey, Jillian Wagner, Tara Maroney, and Roseanne Prunty. She is an APTA-credentialed clinical instructor for many of our DPT students completing clinical affiliations, as well as an adjunct professor for our problem-based learning tutorial groups.

Janet has demonstrated a significant commitment to service. She travelled to Uzbekistan to provide physical therapy services for children in orphanages, where she demonstrated creativity and adaptability in designing treatment programs in an environment with limited resources and facilities. In preparation for her trip, she also facilitated and collected donations of durable medical equipment for these patients.

Janet also coordinates a food donation program in which employees of the Jewish Home contribute supplies for quarterly dinners at the Bridgeport Rescue Mission. She delivers the food and serves meals to those in need. She participates in a variety of service activities within her church, including coordinating craft activities for needy youngsters.

Janet truly represents the best of our graduates. In her day to day activities she makes a positive difference. Her contributions to society not only align with the missions of SHU and the Jewish Home, but also those of the physical therapy profession’s core values, such as altruism, compassion, professional obligations, and social responsibility. We cannot ask any more of our graduates.

Dean Patricia Walker presented the SHU College of Health Professions 2011 Alumni Leadership Award to Ed Mahoney PT, DPT, CWS (class of 2002) during Homecoming weekend festivities in October 2011. The Alumni Leadership Award recognizes CHP alumni who have demonstrated exemplary professional service and, reflecting positively on the University, and fulfilling the College of Health Profession’s Mission.

This award recognizes Dr. Mahoney’s contribution to the clinical education of Sacred Heart University’s physical therapy students as well as his role in the development of the first APTA-accredited Clinical Residency in Wound Care at the LSU Medical Center in Shreveport, Louisiana.

Dr. Mahoney, Assistant Professor of Physical Therapy in the School of Allied Health Professions at the LSU Health Sciences Center, has presented at numerous national physical therapy and wound care conferences, and published five textbook chapters on the topic of wound healing. In addition, Dr. Mahoney’s teaching excellence has been recognized with the Allen A. Copping Award for teaching excellence, the highest award in the LSU Health Sciences Center system.

He has travelled to Port au Prince, Haiti to provide wound care to the victims of the devastating earthquake, an activity he describes as his most rewarding professional endeavor.

Dr. Salome Brooks is one of ten academic researchers to receive the SAS Global Forum Faculty Scholarship Award to attend the SAS Global Forum, April 22–25, 2012 in Orlando, Florida. Attendees come from all over the world to receive customized training, network with SAS users and experts, and see real-world examples of how SAS enables organizations to make better, faster, more profitable decisions. Congratulations Sal!

Dr. Brooks also presented the outcomes of her dissertation work at the 2012 Combined Sections’s meeting of APTA in Chicago. Her research poster “Exploring the Five Phases of Physical Therapy Professional Development Advanced by the Clinical Doctorate Degree” was part of the Section of Research’s Poster Symposium on February 9, 2012.

Drs. Kevin Chui and Michelle Lusardi joined a panel of experts in Geriatrics for a two-hour presentation “Walking Speed: A Vital Sign and Even More!” sponsored by the Sections on Geriatrics, Acute Care, and Neurology at APTA Combined Sections Meeting in Chicago. The goal of the session was to encourage physical therapists to incorporate measurement of walking speed as part of the examination for all patients and to use reference ranges and MDC values as part of documentation of care.

Jay Grimes, PT, MPT, OCS, ATC
Clinical Assistant Professor of Physical Therapy

Jay received his professional education at Quinnipiac University, earning a BS in 2002 and Master’s degree in Physical Therapy in 2004. While working toward his graduate degree at Quinnipiac, he also completed his training in sports medicine and became a Certified Athletic Trainer in 2003.

After graduation, Jay began practicing in and ultimately managing an outpatient orthopedic facility in Connecticut with Physiotherapy Associates, where he specialized in orthopedic and sports physical therapy. During that time, Jay completed additional training in multiple areas including manual therapy with the University of St. Augustine, Functional Capacity Evaluations, and golf performance enhancement. He became board certified as a Clinical Specialist in Orthopedic Physical Therapy by the American Board of Physical Therapy Specialties in 2007.

In the spring of 2006, Jay first became involved with the DPT program at Sacred Heart, serving as a tutor for Semester IV students. This provided him with his initial exposure to the PBL format, and triggered a deeper interest for Jay to continue his association with Sacred Heart. He returned the following fall semester and joined Dr. David Cameron as a lab assistant for Semester I Evaluation and Intervention, while maintaining a full-time clinical practice outside SHU.

After working with Dr. Cameron and Dr. Gary Austin for a few semesters, Jay moved to full-time employment with Sacred Heart in 2008, and accepted an appointment to Clinical Assistant Professor in August 2010. His teaching responsibilities have been focused in the area of Musculoskeletal Examination and Documentation in the DPT Program. Jay also serves as a mentor and faculty member in the Orthopaedic Physical Therapy Residency Program. He has remained active in orthopedic clinical practice through the faculty practice located on campus.

An active APTA member since 2000, Jay received the Mary McMillan Award in 2003. Jay continues to participate in the Connecticut chapter of the APTA by attending chapter events and presenting at their Annual Fall Conference. He is currently working towards his PhD in Physical Therapy through Nova Southeastern University. Jay will marry Alyson Adam, an Ithaca College PT graduate, on April 13, 2012. Outside of physical therapy, he is a drummer who enjoys playing and teaching music. He has been an instructor for the Bunnell High School (Stratford, CT) drumline for the past 10 years. Jay is also an avid fan of the NY Yankees and NY Giants.

Clinical education opportunities abound!

If you are interested in serving as a clinical instructor, and are able to accommodate students in your clinical practice, please contact Director of Clinical Education Dr. Beverly Fein, at 203.371.7797 or feinb@sacredheart.edu.

Wendy Romney, PT, DPT, NCS
Clinical Assistant Professor of Physical Therapy

Professor Wendy Romney earned her Bachelor’s, Master’s, and Doctorate degrees in Physical Therapy from Ithaca College in Ithaca, New York. Her experience as a physical therapist has consisted of treating patients with neurological deficits in acute rehabilitation and outpatient settings. As a clinician, she also served as center coordinator of clinical education at Gaylord Hospital in Wallingford, Connecticut. Wendy became a board-certified specialist in Neurology through the American Physical Therapy Association in 2010.

Wendy joined the DPT Program faculty at Sacred Heart University in the fall of 2011. Prior to that, she served as adjunct faculty at University of Hartford from 2009-2011 and at Quinnipiac University in the fall of 2011. Her primary teaching responsibilities at SHU include physical therapy management of patients with complex medical problems and neurological dysfunction.

Wendy is an active member of the American Physical Therapy Association (APTA). In the Connecticut chapter, she serves on the Board of Directors and the programming committee, and she has presented at their Annual Fall Conference. In the APTA, she is a member of the neurology and education sections, and traumatic brain injury and spinal cord injury special interest groups.

She was recently appointed to serve on the SCI EDGE work group to help determine the most appropriate outcome measures used for patients with spinal cord injuries.

Wendy’s research interests include rehabilitation technology, treatment of patients with multiple sclerosis and spinal cord injury, as well as evidence-based practice.

In her “spare” time, Wendy will begin work on her PhD this summer. Wendy and her husband, Aaron, reside in New Haven, CT. In her free time, she enjoys going on vacation, competing in triathlons and reading.

The Semester II and Semester II Teams are delighted to welcome Wendy to Sacred Heart’s DPT Program, and are thoroughly enjoying her energy and expertise!

WELCOME JACKSON WORMLEY!

We’re trilled to announce the arrival of the newest and littlest member of the Sacred Heart Physical Therapy family!

Michelle and Nick Wormley announce the early but safe arrival of their son Jackson Richard Cadman Wormley, born on November 5, 2011 at 1:27 A.M. Wee Jackson initially weighed in at only 4 pounds, 3 ounces, and measured 18.25 inches long.

Michelle and Nick happily report, “As of his four-month checkup, Jackson has gained 10 pounds. He is healthy and we are loving life!”

College of Health Professions faculty and staff enthusiastically “showered” the Wormleys with gifts and well wishes at a celebration hosted by Dr. Beverly Fein and Patti DaSilva in October.

Nick, Jackson, and Michelle Wormley
A MESSAGE FROM PAMELA K. LEVANGIE, PT, DSc, FAPTA

To the graduates and friends of Sacred Heart Physical Therapy:

On January 14, 2012, my husband, Joe, passed away at home in Bedford, MA after a prolonged battle with Multiple Myeloma. He was 66 years old. Most of you did not get to meet or know Joe, given our dual-state existence, so I would love to share a little about him.

Joe was born, bred, and educated in Massachusetts. He graduated from Belmont High School in 1963 and went on to major in Chemical Engineering at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, graduating in 1967. Later, Joe earned his MBA from the Harvard Graduate School of Business Administration.

In 1975 Joe worked as a Congressional Intern to then-Representative Paul Tsongas which led ultimately to a Presidential appointment by Jimmy Carter to the post of Executive Vice President of the Solar Energy & Energy Conservation Bank in Washington, DC, until the subsequent election of President Reagan.

Joe served as Chief Financial Officer for several companies before establishing JEL & Associates in 1981, a venture management firm that provided financial and incubation advice to small technology startups.

Joe continued to run JEL & Associates from his home office in Bedford while I enjoyed my faculty position as Sacred Heart for 13 years. Joe was able to prosper in his work and enjoy his leisure pursuits for over eight years post-diagnosis.

In January 2010, I left Sacred Heart to join Joe, living full-time in Bedford in what we assumed would be his final years. Joe and I got to celebrate our 40th wedding anniversary in late August, an important milestone for both of us. We received strong support from our son, Jeremy, and our daughter Ann-Michelle.

Having had many years to prepare, Jeremy, Ann-Michelle, and I are thankful that Joe is at peace, are enjoying fond memories, and coping well with this new phase of our lives.

I will continue as Professor and Associate Chair of the Department of Physical Therapy at MGH Institute of Health Professions where I have been working since July 2010 (after a one semester Visiting Professorship at Simmons). With strong ties to Sacred Heart, its faculty, and its graduates, I hope to continue communication with all and to serve as an ongoing resource in any way I can.

For those who are interested, donations can be made in Joe’s name to Dana Farber Institute (www.dana-farber.org). Donations will go directly to Multiple Myeloma research in the laboratory of the oncologist-researcher who treated Joe. Many thanks to those who have expressed your condolences. Your support means a lot to me. Thank you for this opportunity to share my news with you. Hugs to you all.

Joseph Edward Levangie 1945-2012
DPT EMERGENCY FUND
ALUMNI CHALLENGE

As a tribute to all of the alumni who have passed through her classroom at Sacred Heart, in honor of the “family” of faculty and staff within the department, and as a means of continuing to support current and future students, Professor Emerita Michelle Lusardi PT, DPT, PhD and her husband Larry have established the Department of Physical Therapy and Human Movement’s DPT Emergency Fund.

As all alumni remember, PT students must put all other interests and activities “on the back burner” in order to devote the time and effort (physical, mental, and emotional) that success in a full-time graduate program in health care requires. At the same time, many must cope with personal difficulties along the way: unexpected illness, injury, or the passing of a loved one; loss of a part-time job that has kept food on the table and made the rent manageable; or an inability to take advantage of a wonderful clinical affiliation opportunity across the country because of lack of travel funds.

This fund will provide short-term financial support for students in times of real need. With the assistance of their advisors, students can request a “grant” of up to $500 to help them through a period of crisis. This money can be used to alleviate some of the financial stressors faced by students needing to get home quickly in times of family crisis, to keep the lights on, to meet other pressing needs, or perhaps to offset some of the travel costs that might otherwise dash a clinical opportunity.

The Lusardis have provided an initial gift of $10,000 to establish the fund. To make the fund self-sustaining, the principal needs to reach at least $25,000.

In accepting Michelle and Larry’s substantial endowment, the department has created a “pay it forward” opportunity, defining the fund as a professional responsibility for everyone associated with Sacred Heart’s Physical Therapy Program, to invest in the future of our profession by providing a bit of a safety net for those currently on the way to becoming physical therapists.

Furthermore, as Dr. Mike Emery mentioned on the first page of this newsletter, the Sacred Heart Physical Therapy and Sports Medicine Clinic is generously willing to match, dollar-for-dollar, every gift to the fund received from PT program alumni during this 15th Anniversary Year, with the goal of reaching and perhaps surpassing the necessary $25,000 minimum needed to begin making awards.

Members of the SH-PTSM team are issuing a challenge to PT program alumni to determine which graduating class can raise the most money to support the fund.

Donations to the fund are tax deductible, and can be made online by credit card by going to the “give to the DPT emergency fund” link on the department’s website: http://www.sacredheart.edu/pages/39042_give_to_the_dpt_emergency_fund.cfm.

Donations can also be made by check or money order, and mailed to: DPT Emergency Fund, Office of Institutional Advancement, Sacred Heart University, 5151 Park Avenue, Fairfield, CT 06825-1000

Please, make your donation to the DPT Emergency Fund today!

PT HOMECOMING CHILI COOK-OFF: GREAT FOOD, LOTS OF FUN, AND WONDERFUL COMPANY!

Faculty and their families, alumni, and current PT student gathered behind the end zone on Saturday, September 24, 2011 to watch the SHU Pioneers Football Team beat the visiting Big Green players from Dartmouth, 24-21. With a colorful bounce-house and slide to keep the small fry amused as a backdrop, alums judged eight variations of Tex-Mex style chili prepared by faculty and staff for sampling. Entries included a vegetarian version, one made with moose meat, another with filet mignon, and one with chicken.

There was a three-way tie for first place: Congratulations to Michelle Wormley, Wendy Romney, and Michelle Lusardi for their winning recipes!

In October, College of Health Professions students and faculty from Physical Therapy, Nursing, and Occupational Therapy travelled to Antigua, Guatemala to work in interdisciplinary teams, providing pro bono primary health care, nutritional counseling, and rehabilitation consultation. In addition to serving children and adults with limited access to health care, working in PT-OT-Nursing teams helped students develop a better appreciation of each other’s discipline-related knowledge and skills as well as an enjoyment of collaboration.

During the extended week of their visit, the SHU teams worked with children with developmental delay and neuromotor disability at Hope Haven, with children and their families at a malnutrition center, and with older adults with mobility difficulties. Students report that they learned much more than anticipated, especially about the importance of adapting intervention to be culturally appropriate.

Prior to the trip, students raised $1,200 that allowed them to build and fit wheelchairs for six people who had been without wheeled mobility. While delivering meals to people who were homeless, students worked together to provide foot care to those with vulnerable and wounded feet. Faculty advisor Donna Bowers, PT, said “As a teacher, it was an incredible experience to see the students use the things they learned in the classroom and watch them solve problems together.”
Current members of Sacred Heart’s Student Physical Therapy Association are continuing the tradition established by previous Physical Therapy classes by participating in the Pittsburgh Marquette Challenge to raise research funds for the Foundation for Physical Therapy.

Sacred Heart Physical Therapy students take up the Challenge!

The first event, a course by Anthony DeVito, PT PhD FAPTA “Clinical Performance, Evidence-Based Practice and Payment: The Perfect Storm,” on October 28, 2011 raised nearly $5,400.

The second event, a course our own Michelle Lusardi PT DPT PhD “Name that Gyrus: A Functional Approach to Neuroanatomy, Neurophysiology and Neuroplasticity,” on January 21 and 22, 2012 raised nearly $4,000.00.

Watch for information about the events planned for Fall of 2012. David Tiberio PT EdD will lead off.

The Marquette Challenge is a grassroots fundraising effort that supports the Foundation for Physical Therapy. The Challenge is coordinated and executed exclusively by physical therapist and physical therapist assistant students each year. You can demonstrate your commitment to the profession by raising money to help fund critical physical therapy research!
